

Feel The Heat

Music and Lyrics Doug Carlson

I feel the heat, like a liquid fire Running through my veins what will now transpire?

I was dead for a thousand years like a frozen man in his frozen tears

I feel the heat when I am next to you and if it's only your fire I'm walking through

I feel you move, feel you deep inside the electric pulses of this passion ride From your hands flew a captive bird you can raise the dead with your silent words

I feel the heat when I am by your side
I like the motion of this passion ride
I like the feel of this passion ride

Been too long in the sun
Can you see what love has done?
I can feel your hands caress my bandaged eyes
One hand burns and one hand heals
If I fall at last I feel
You can turn away or let your passion ride

Out on the edge of a lover's dream
If we get too close never hear our screams
I was dead and i never knew
'til I came alive on the edge with you

I feel the heat when i'm next to you and if only it's your fire I'm walking through
I like the motion of this passion ride
I like the feel of this passion ride
